

It is holiday time! When you go to the beach this summer, always remember to use the litter bins 1. You could join one of the many clean-up groups and help to collect litter left by careless people 2. There is noise pollution, too! Keep that radio turned down! Other people may not want to listen to noisy pop music! 3 Terns 4 are busily nesting and turnstones 5 are looking for food in the bladderwrack, watched by two curious rabbits in the sand dunes 6. At the rock pool, a shore crab 7 crawls among the limpets 8 whelks and razor shells 9. There is colour at the seaside. Thrift 10 is a lovely pink plant and the yellow ragwort 11 attracts a cinnabar moth 12.
